Subject: Best Platforms for Viewing Board of Commissioners Regular Session Live Stream

During the Tuesday, January 13, 2026, Board of Commissioners Regular Session, commissioners voted to discontinue the City's Zoom license. Streaming efforts will continue to focus on YouTube and Facebook.

For the best viewing experience, residents are encouraged to watch on the City's YouTube channel. YouTube does not require an account, works reliably across devices, and keeps recordings of past meetings available permanently, making it easy to watch live or later.

While meetings are also streamed on Facebook, that platform may require users to have an account to view live content, and recordings are only retained for 30 days. In addition, Facebook's integration with the City's streaming service is less consistent than YouTube's, which can occasionally require technical reconnections before streaming can resume.

By continuing to stream meetings and focusing on the platforms that work best, the City is making it easier for residents to stay informed and engaged.
